We are pleased to present a special memorial ribbon "In Memory of "
Siu Ling Han (1963–2016)
along with our Best in Specialty Show ribbon.

Siu Ling Han was a wildlife biologist, devoted qimuksiqtu (musher), and passionate advocate for the Canadian Inuit Dog, the historic Arctic working breed known as the Canadian Eskimo Dog.

Born in Munich, Germany on January 22, 1963, she came to Canada as an infant and grew up in Montreal and Ottawa. Her love of the natural world began early as a Junior Forest Ranger in Thunder Bay that led her to complete a Master of Science in Biology at the University of Waterloo. As an ecologist with the Government of Canada, she contributed to the Northern Contaminants Program, drafting international protocols addressing Persistent Organic Pollutants in the Arctic. She also participated in research on 200-year-old hydrocarbon deposits on the Agassiz Ice Cap on Ellesmere Island — work reflecting her deep commitment to protecting fragile northern ecosystems.

In 1998, she moved to Iqaluit to live and work in the North. Over the years, Siu Ling has worked to raise awareness about the heritage and significance of the Canadian Inuit Dog and the knowledge of Inuit who have lived and travelled with these dogs for generations. She continued to share her experiences and insights in order to support the preservation and appreciation of this remarkable Arctic partnership between people, land, and dog.

In 1999, she established her first team of Inuit Dogs — Atsuli, Aiviq, and Fiddich — entrusted to her by experienced Iqaluit dog teamers. She went on to breed, raise, and train her dogs with exceptional dedication, honoring Inuit traditions and the working heritage of the breed, guided by the historical significance of this remarkable Arctic working breed. She ensured her puppies were thoughtfully socialized, and that her retired dogs lived out their years in comfort and care. To her, every dog was family.

A passionate and accomplished qimuksiqtu, she travelled extensively across Baffin Island, participating in races and undertaking long-distance expeditions.

In 2009, six years after her cancer diagnosis, Siu Ling completed a remarkable 1,000-kilometre expedition along the east coast of Baffin Island from Qikiqtarjuaq to Pond Inlet with her team of ten dogs — a testament to her resilience, skill, and profound bond with her team.

Siu Ling Han passed away in Ottawa on August 29, 2016. Her legacy lives on in the dogs and their descendants who continue to run across Arctic ice, and in the community of mushers who honor her memory with every journey.
